

BEST PRACTICES AND NEW IDEAS IN TEACHING EDUCATION LAW

WED. NOV. 2, 2022, 1:30-4:30 PM

Hilton Orlando Buena Vista Palace

Registration $50

Back by popular demand is this member-initiated, stand-alone preconference option at ELA's 68th Annual Conference for those who teach education law.

If you teach education law, on K-12 and/or higher education, in a graduate program, law school, other another professional development setting, join colleagues from a range of institutions and programs across the country and abroad to share ideas for what works, innovative practices, and strategies for overcoming challenges.

The first year this event was held, the participants were so enthusiastic that they spontaneously continued the discussion later in the conference during their free time! This workshop, and the whole ELA Annual Conference, are especially invaluable to those who are relatively new to teaching education law.

CONVENORS

Jeanne Surface

*Professor of Educational Leadership,
University of Nebraska Omaha*

Gretchen Oltman

*Associate Professor of Interdisciplinary Studies,
Creighton University*

Jackie Clark

*Associate Professor and Interim Associate Dean,
St. Martin's University*

This workshop is a preconference of the ELA's 68th Annual Conference. For information, registration, and hotel discount for the conference, the workshop, or both, visit the ELA Conference Page.

To go directly to registration, click here.